

NEW YORK WILL ACT

In Convention in Albany on the 22d of February.

A HILL DELEGATION IS CERTAIN

To Cast the Vote of That State in the National Convention.

THE DAY'S DOINGS IN CONGRESS.

The Discussion on the Rules Develops Several Outside Features—Other Gossip from the Capital.

WASHINGTON, January 26.—[Special.]—As predicted in the dispatches a few days ago, the New York democratic state convention has been called to meet on February 22d in Albany.

It can be stated with certainty that a Hill delegation will be sent to the convention.

A majority of the members present are reported in favor of Hill as the presidential candidate. Senator Hill was present and accessible to all the great leaders. David B. Hill's admirers are confident that he will be nominated by his party. During his gubernatorial career he succeeded in entrenching the democratic party in control of the legislative and state departments, and by his course in the recent legislative contests, which course has been approved by the court of appeals, has given the opportunity to redress the state, and in compliance with the law which provides for an enumeration of the state every ten years, a bill to effect this has now passed both branches of the New York legislature and been signed by the governor.

Georgia Legislation.
Colonel Livingston introduced the old anti-slavery bill in the house today. He will not, however, agitate this question for the present. He wants the house to pass his resolution providing for an investigation of the financial affairs of the country, which will probably lead to a more practical solution of the problem.

Senate Colquhoun today introduced a bill for the improvement of the Savannah river and harbor.

Mr. Carlton Hillier, auditor of the Georgia railroad, is here attending the convention of auditors of the various railroads of the country.

Out at the Reception.

The new Georgia congressmen turned out in force tonight at the presidential reception to congress. Being members of the Farmers' Alliance, it is, of course, against their principles to own, borrow or wear a dress suit. Consequently they contented themselves with white cravats and ordinary Prince Albert coats. In such costumes they naturally attracted attention where dress suits only are considered the proper thing, but they preferred rather to be conspicuous than to have themselves paraded through their districts as being possessors of spike-tailed coats.

The Day in Congress.

The debate over the rules in the house today was very much tamer than had been anticipated. Mr. Reed made a conservative speech in defense of his rules of the last congress. He simply claimed that they were the best, but made no vicious attack upon Speaker Crisp's new rules. In the allotment of time to the respective parties for debate, the third party was recognized. The democratic and republican parties were given three hours each for general debate, and to the third party one hour was allotted. Jerry Simpson, Mr. Otis of Kansas and Tom Watson of Georgia, will, perhaps, consume that hour tomorrow. All three of them will speak in favor of an amendment offered by Mr. Otis, providing for the election of the committees by ballot in the house, rather than the formation of them by the speaker. Of course the amendment will not be adopted, but it will give the third party people an opportunity to be heard from.

An Amendment by Breckinridge.
Yesterday a very significant amendment to the new code of rules was offered by Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky. It appears in today's Record, and reads as follows:

Provided further, That whenever any general appropriation bill is introduced, it shall be in order to move as an amendment any amendment reducing taxation or providing out of what fund or funds such appropriation shall be paid.

This proviso Mr. Breckinridge proposed to add to the Holman rule, which adoption was recommended by the rules committee, permitting riders on legislative or appropriation bills when in the interest of retrenchment. If enacted it would enable a complete tariff bill to be appended to any appropriation bill under consideration in the house. The significance of it is readily seen. Members of the ways and means committee who are in favor of striking the McKinley tariff act by separate bills were afraid that it indicated a purpose to take the revision of the tariff out of their hands and propose a general tariff bill, like the Mills bill of the fifth congress. Democratic members of the committee are at present divided on the subject of the best method of attacking the tariff, and new and old members of the committee have not yet been able to get together on the question. Mr. Springer and his friends favoring separate bills, and the members of the committee when Mr. Mills was chairman, namely: Messrs. McMillan, Wilson and Turner, favoring a general revision in one comprehensive measure.

Mr. Breckinridge this afternoon said that his resolution did not contemplate any move against the chairman of the ways and means committee. He said that he did not believe in legislation or appropriation bills, but in favor of keeping appropriation bills confined to government expenditures strictly. At the same time, if there were going to be any such rule adopted as the old Holman rider of the forty-eighth congress, he wanted to add it a rule relative to taxation. He said he wanted to keep any single tariff bill, or any general tariff bill from being pocketed in the senate, and if the house sent the senate a lot of single shots at the tariff law, which he, personally, did not favor, being himself a believer in keeping faith by general revision, he wanted to put the rules in such shape that the senate would be compelled to act upon them, and not be permitted to pocket them in the committee.

During the debate on rules today Mr. Sayres, of Texas, sprung the silver question upon the house by an amendment allowing the committee on coinage to report to the house at any time, and by giving its report precedence over other measures. That brought little Mr. Sayres, of Maryland, to his feet, and he made a vigorous attack upon free coinage, taking occasion at the same time to eulogize Mr. Cleveland in the most flattering terms, and to speak out for him for president. Mr. Sayres's speech, however, fell rather flat. E. W. B.

WHITELEW REID WILL RESIGN

And Resume Journalism—The State Department Advised.

WASHINGTON, January 26.—It is ascertained on the best authority that Whitelaw Reid, minister to France, is seriously contemplating his resignation in order to resume his journalistic life. The state department, it is understood, has been advised to this effect.

COTTON FACTORY BURNED.

Over Two Hundred Operatives Out of Employment—Yesterday's Fire.

CHESTER, S. C., January 26.—The Chester cotton factory, with all its contents, was burned this morning at 2 o'clock. The fire caught in the dining room, fanned by a brisk breeze, quickly spread to the rest of the large buildings. All the costly machines and $80,000 worth of gingham, ready for shipment, were destroyed. The total loss is $220,000; insurance, $151,000. Over two hundred operatives are thrown out of work. The company will rebuild at once.

Large Fire in Columbus, O.

COLUMBUS, O., January 26.—The most disastrous fire that Columbus has ever experienced occurred this morning in a large hotel of buildings at the northwest corner of Rich and High streets. A small blaze started about 7:40 o'clock a. m. in the large building at the corner, and before noon the entire block from Rich street to Walnut and from High to Wall had been gutted by the flames.

There were a number of thrilling and hair-breadth escapes, with the large force of women employed about the building, it is miraculous that the death roll does not mount up high. The shoe factory of Goodman's employed 284 persons. One hundred and thirty-two of these were girls; sixty men and twenty boys. The factory occupied three floors. The spectacle of the girls going down the fire ladders and escaping with aprons over their heads was one of the thrilling episodes that caused the hearts of men to stand still. These victims were driven out of the building by the flames, and many of them had not even time to get any of their wrappings, the fire spreading so rapidly.

Nothing but the bare walls of the building, occupying half a block, are standing, and it is impossible to get a complete list of the losses and insurances, especially the latter, as it is so extensively distributed through the agencies. A rough estimate is made that the total damage will be about five hundred thousand dollars; insurance, $300,000. All the people were taken from the building without injury, though there were some narrow escapes.

Oil Works Destroyed.

ELIZABETH, N. J., January 26.—The extensive plant of Borne, Strymer & Co., lubricating oil manufacturers, at Elizabethport, was almost entirely destroyed by fire tonight. An explosion of one of the stills occurred soon after the day forces had left their work. The works are in the suburbs, where there is a lack of water supply, and this made efforts to quench the flames ineffectual. After the explosion, and in a short time much of the plant was a mass of flames. The blazing oil floated out on the surface of Staten Island sound and caught in the tides, which had steamed to the scene to be of assistance.

Staten Island meadows were fired, and ignited a trestle of the Baltimore and Ohio road, which passed over the meadows. The oil works covered ten acres, with 450 feet frontage on the sound. Wharves along the full length of this frontage were consumed, also the cooper shop and building of filter and pump houses. Forty-five thousand new barrels, many thousands of barrels of manufactured oil, and six immense stills are destroyed as well. The loss aggregates $300,000, partly insured.

RAILROAD SHOPS BURNED.

Seventy-Five Thousand Dollars Goes Up in Smoke in Meridian.

MERIDIAN, Miss., January 26.—[Special.]—Fire destroyed the railroad shops of the Queen and Crescent road tonight, entailing an estimated loss of $75,000, and throwing out of employment two hundred persons. The fire originated in the central part of the shops at 6:20 o'clock, and in thirty minutes the building was enveloped in flames, and was totally destroyed, despite the strenuous efforts of the firemen. The roundhouse and the offices in the shop were saved. Walter Whitefield and another fireman, who were unable to be rescued, were burned about the head by falling. It was fully covered by insurance.

SHOT TO DEATH.

A Terrible Tragedy Reported from Middleboro, Ky.

MIDDLEBORO, Ky., January 26.—[Special.]—A terrible tragedy was committed on the border of the Big Sycamore in Tennessee, twenty miles south of Cumberland Gap, late yesterday afternoon.

It appears that a lawsuit had been pending between one Pridemore, of Grange county, Tennessee, and a sister of Chief of Police of Chattanooga, of Tennessee. The latter, in possession of a horse in the stables of the Williams family. On Sunday afternoon Pridemore, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Sizemore, of Grange county, Tennessee, took possession of the horse in dispute and started for home. Later in the day Chief Williams, accompanied by Officer Thompson, started in hot pursuit. The fleeing party was met near their residence, and a regular battle ensued. Officer Thompson was shot through the chest, dying instantly, while Deputy Sheriff Sizemore had six bullets put through his body, which resulted in his death early this morning. Pridemore was afterwards captured by his pursuers and was locked up in jail at Cumberland Gap.

The Young Man Was Ignorant.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., January 26.—[Special.]—A peculiar case came to light today, showing how, through ignorance, an innocent man went to the penitentiary for five years. Several months ago, an ignorant mountaineer, was arrested in Warren county, charged with bigamy. He had no attorney, and submitted the case, receiving a sentence of five years in the penitentiary. As a matter of fact, he had been divorced before his second marriage, and his divorced wife had been married again. These facts were brought to Governor Buchanan's attention today, and a pardon was at once granted.

A Quarrel Over a Child.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., January 26.—[Special.]—A quarrel over a child came to Chattanooga this morning with its little child, which was awarded him as Birmingham yesterday. Mrs. Young and her attorney, who were here to contest the award, invoked the aid of a policeman at the Central depot in order to get rid of them. When Young failed to take the child they held him, and he was arrested for kidnapping, and he waived examination and was bound over.

Poor Collections Cause.

ANNISTON, Ala., January 26.—[Special.]—The Anniston carriage works were transferred today from John A. Fry and Randolph S. John to William Noble to satisfy a $4,500 mortgage held by the latter. Four thousand dollars of outstanding debts are owing the creditors being located in the north principally. The carriage works have been a money-making concern, but poor collections caused the failure.

He Met with a Terrible Death.

MINNEAPOLIS, Ky., January 26.—[Special.]—Ellis Moffett, coachman for C. M. Woodbury, met with a terrible death today. His horse ran away, and as the unfortunate man endeavored to adjust the seat of the buckboard, he fell backward, and in some unaccountable way his head got caught between the spokes of the wheel, and in this condition he was dragged several blocks.

THEY TALK FOR HILL.

The Growing Sentiment Among Alabama Democrats

FOR THE MAN WHO CAN WIN.

He Leads Cleveland and Is Growing Stronger.

THE MANHATTAN CLUB RECEPTION

Proves to Be a Grand Ovation in Honor of the Man Who Routed New York Republicans.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., January 26.—[Special.]—David B. Hill was a prominent topic of discussion here today.

Alabama, like Georgia, has been conceded to be exclusive Cleveland territory. When the ex-president was in power, he was very liberal in the distribution of patronage to Alabamians. This appeal to the personal pride of the state, besides the claim made by his friends that tariff reform was the exclusive property of Cleveland, gave him an almost impregnable hold.

The failure of Mr. Cleveland to take proper part in the New York municipal campaign; the magnificent work done by Governor Hill, growing bigger as the end of his term approached, set the people here to thinking. The result of that deliberation was made manifest today.

The state executive committee of the democratic party had met for the purpose of fixing the day and place for the next state convention. The suggestion that the members be polled for their presidential preferences was agreed to, and resulted:

For Hill, 100 per cent.

For Cleveland, 0 per cent.

For the man who can win, 100 per cent.

Colonel Tallaferro, of Jefferson county, said:

"I have always been a strong Cleveland man, but it now looks as if Hill will be the man to win with, and I am for any man who can be elected."

That was the general sentiment among the other non-committal members.

The State Convention.

The executive committee fixed Wednesday, June 8th, as the time, and Montgomery as the place, for holding the next state convention. It also fixed the vote for governor in the last election as a basis of representation, not only of counties in the state convention, but also of counties in the state convention.

It also prescribed a requirement for participating in best meetings of the party, viz.: Having voted the party ticket in the last state and national elections. It further directed that thirty days be given by county committees of county conventions or primaries.

The majority of the committee met with E. T. Tallaferro, of Birmingham, in a protest against fixing best regulations requiring thirty days' notice and other minor regulations adopted by the committee.

SENATOR HILL ENTERTAINED

By Members of the Manhattan Club of New York.

NEW YORK, January 26.—Two thousand people grasped the hand of New York's junior senator tonight, and amid the popping of champagne corks and the merry clink of crystal, David Bennett Hill listened smilingly to many complimentary things said of him and to him.

They All Came to Do Him Honor.

The occasion was the reception and dinner tendered by the Manhattan Club, and the faithful came from all over the state and even from other states. New Jersey congratulated the senator through the offices of Governor Leon Abbott, while the national committee, Carlos French, grasped his hand for the democracy of Connecticut.

A Love Feast, Sure Enough.

It was a democratic love feast, and consisted of congratulations, confidences, wit, bonhomie, and a good deal of champagne. It was an elaborate reception—perfect in conception and charming in fulfillment. The air of the old Stewart house was heavily laden with the breath of hope, and members of the club and their guests walked about the frescoed rooms with figurative chips of defiance on their shoulders, during the anti-Hill men to knock them off.

And while less distinguished democrats stood about the dining hall, the senator and party were seated before a table that bore heavy-weighted salmon with American flags in their mouths, sheep roasted whole, and the birds cooked with their feathers on.

Around the Table.

The ex-governor was happy. President Frederick R. Condit had on his right the guest of the evening, and on his left Mayor Grant. Then there were Governor Abbott, of New Jersey, and ex-Congressman French, of Connecticut; Doc Commissioner J. Sargent Conn, Commissioner Gilroy, John H. V. Arnold, Congressman W. Bourke Cochran and others.

The Toast to Hill.

There were only two speeches, and they were distinctly conventional. The toast to the senator was made by Commissioner Conn, secured silence, and then he proposed that the toast to Senator Hill be drunk in silence. It was drunk, and when Senator Hill arose it was fully two minutes before he could speak, so continuous was the applause. When he did speak, he made a graceful but brief address. He thanked the Manhattan Club for the reception, tendered him, and expressed a deep appreciation of the honor. He referred to the democratic victories in New York the past four years, and in speaking of his share in them, remarked:

"I simply did what I thought to be my duty to my state and to my country."

The Work Yet to Be Done.

Continuing he said: "We have stormed and carried the citadel of republicanism in this state, and this year we will storm and carry the citadel of republicanism of the country. Especially have we democrats of New York occasion to rejoice. We have carried the legislature; we will soon have a new congressional apportionment, to be followed by a new state apportionment, and I hope soon to sit in the United States senate with a democratic colleague."

"We Owe Him Much."

F. R. Condit, president of the club, paid a high compliment to the services which Senator Hill had rendered to his party, and concluded his peroration with these significant words:

"We owe him much; we know it, and we shall remember it."

HILL IN OHIO.

The Buckeye Democracy Rallying Around the Plucky New Yorker.

COLUMBUS, O., January 26.—[Special.]—The recent canvass of the democrats in the Ohio legislature showed 38 for David B. Hill for president, and only 4 against him.

This vote largely represents popular sentiment. The people have not forgotten Hill's gallant work in this state when the democrats made their victorious fight against such tremendous odds in 1880. With the politicians and the masses he is the coming man.

General Tom Ewing, of New York, who made a gallant fight for governor of Ohio in 1876, against Charles Foster, now secretary of the treasury, was in Columbus tonight.

To your correspondent he said he was called west on a business trip, having an interest in the Hocking valley that demanded his attention, but he was not averse to talking on political topics. The general expresses the opinion that Hill and Blaine will be the candidates of the democratic and republican parties for the presidency. He regards Hill as the greatest political manager of the country, and predicts his nomination and election.

In former years, the democracy has been without a political leader, and achieved success by sheer force of party strength when Cleveland was elected to the presidency. With Hill as the standard bearer there would, in the opinion of General Ewing, be no more aggressive campaign conducted in a manner to insure the success of the party in the national contest.

SHORT 33,000 BALES.

Savannah Has Lost and Charleston Has Gained Cotton This Season.

SAVANNAH, Ga., January 26.—[Special.]—Traffic Manager Sol Haas addressed a large number of cotton men at the cotton exchange this afternoon at a meeting called at Mr. Haas's request. He insisted that no cotton had been diverted from Savannah. The receipts here now show 33,000 bales decrease, while Charleston shows an increase of 30,000.

Norfolk shows a decrease of 7,000 and West Point a decrease of 10,000 bales. Savannah has received, he stated, 3,000 more bales over the Central railroad proper than last year; 4,000 less from the Augusta and Savannah railroad, 19,000 less from Augusta, 5,000 more from the Georgia railroad, 11,000 from Macon, 4,000 less over the Atlanta division, and 2,700 more from Athens, only 300 bales having come from there last year.

The figures, Mr. Haas was saying, he said. The cotton lost from Augusta went to Charleston, that city receiving this year from Augusta 40,000 bales. Cotton this year has been handled in the same way as last year.

Ocean rates have been lowered every day this season. In fact, a 2-cent advance sometimes as much as 10 cents. Ships were there and wanted cotton and quoted lower rates to get it. He has inquired into the reason for this, and has found that the ships reduce rates by shrinking inland rates, but cannot find any confirmation of it.

He thought the loss at Savannah was due to the fact that at least 100,000 bales of cotton having gone to Charleston from Augusta and vicinity. He could find no reason why ocean rates should be lower there than here.

The loss at Columbus and from Griffin was due to strong competition. Mr. Haas claimed there had been an increase in cotton to Savannah on every central line except the Savannah, Griffin and Norfolk, and the West Point nor Norfolk is a cotton port, and all cotton shipped there has been on through bills of lading. In conclusion Mr. Haas promised to aid in the development of the business of Savannah and vicinity.

JUSTICE MUST BE PROMPT.

The Savannah Murderers Will Be Speedily Tried.

SAVANNAH, Ga., January 26.—[Special.]—This morning the committee appointed at Turner hall, called on the jury to try the case of the Savannah murderers. The committee general assured them that all other officers of the law felt the deepest horror at the crime that had been committed, and that they all were determined that, so far as the law could do it, the murderers should be made an example of to prevent the commission of murder in the future.

HARRIED HARRISON

Put Into a Perplexing Situation by Chile.

HIS ILL-CONCEIVED POLITICAL SCHEME

To Involve the People in War for Partisan Purposes

IS NOW GENERALLY UNDERSTOOD.

The Claim Set Up That Harrison Knew All Along That Chile Would Apologize.

WASHINGTON, January 26.—[Special.]—The dense black war cloud, which hung over this country when the people retired last night, was dispelled when they awoke this morning and glanced at the papers.

The cloud had entirely disappeared, and nothing remained but the bright silver lining which seemed to reflect peace upon the face of all the earth.

The Little Man Is Mad.

But it was not so bright to the president. The appearance of Chile's apology in the same papers with his war message aroused suspicion among the observant. Indeed Mr. Blaine's friends intimate that the president had assurances of an apology coming, but, in spite of everything the secretary of state could do to check him, insisted upon launching his war message.

The fact that it was almost a dead heat between Mr. Harrison's message and the apology, places the president in a bad light, as it makes it very apparent that the president was overzealous and overanxious to exaggerate the situation.

It places him in the position of trying to make capital for himself of an international complication, in which the entire country was involved. His indecent haste is emphasized, whether he had an intimation of what Chile's reply was to be or not, by the intimation which has been thrown out that Minister Montt requested that the message be withheld for only twenty-four hours to await the reply from Chile, explaining at the time that Minister of Foreign Affairs Ferrera could not reply until he had conferred with President Montt, who was absent from Santiago at the bath.

It Really Came the Day Before.

As a matter of fact Chile's apology came yesterday. It has embarrassed the president no little, and he has not decided just how to handle it. He has made no reply to Chile yet, but he has decided that the apology, as made, shall not settle the dispute.

He is satisfied with the withdrawal of

RAILROAD NEWS.

The Atlanta and Florida's Affairs Thoroughly Discussed.

STOCKHOLDERS HAVE A LONG TASK.

No Plan Decided On—Colonel Stahlman Has Something to Say About Rates. Other Railroad News.

The stockholders of the Atlanta and Florida Railroad Company held a meeting yesterday afternoon in President Sage's office.

Of the $1,100,000 capital stock, $1,000,000 was represented at the meeting, which was called for the purpose of discussing the company's financial affairs.

It was thought that some way might be found to avert the receivership which was applied for three weeks ago. One plan was for the stockholders to go down in their pockets and bring out enough money to relieve the company of its embarrassment. There was a report that some of the stockholders favored such a plan of relief.

However, when the stockholders talked over the matter, there was only one who was willing to put up more cash. The company's indebtedness to the equipment and supply companies, and to other creditors, was away up in the hundred thousands. Only a small part of this is due and pressing now, and perhaps $15,000 would ease the company temporarily. How to care for maturing obligations seemed to be the financial problem. In May the annual interest on the $240,000 bonds will be due.

The whole situation was thoroughly discussed, and no agreement was reached. So the matter remains in the shape it was, and the application for the receivership will come up again on Saturday before Judge Clarke.

What the New York bondholders will do is uncertain. They were represented here when the application came before the court, and they will want to have a voice if a receiver is appointed.

COLONEL STAHLMAN'S VIEWS.

Rates May Be Advanced to Some Points and Reduced to Others.

Colonel Stahlman will not reach Atlanta before next Monday. On that date he will take active charge of the new consolidated Southern Railway and Steamship Association as commissioner.

Comments upon the notice of increase of southern freight rates which are to go into effect February 1st, have brought out from him an emphatic statement in reference to his policy. On February 1st proportional rates now effective to east Mississippi river points will be withdrawn and on the same date the following rates will be substituted from New York: First class 72 cents, second 63, third 49, fourth 35, fifth 20 and sixth 25. The rates are now 40, 40, 28 and for the fourth, fifth and sixth classes 25.

Colonel Stahlman says he is not responsible for the increase. The association has no control over rates between New York, Boston or Providence to east Mississippi river points. Such points are Vicksburg, Natchez and Memphis. The rates to and from these points are largely controlled by steamship lines plying between New Orleans, New York and Boston in connection with the Mississippi river steamers, which lines are not members of the association. "There is no rail line connected with the Southern Railway and Steamship Association which is in a position to control these rates; and, therefore, this traffic is expressly excluded from control by the association," says Colonel Stahlman. He has not attended any meeting of the association, he states, and did not know that the new rates had been made until he read them in the papers.

Continuing he says: "I do not mean to convey the impression that changes in transportation rates will not be made after I assume charge of the office to which I have been chosen. They have been made from time to time for the past thirty years, sometimes going up and as often going down, and I can see no reason why such changes should not continue. Conditions may at any time arise which may demand an advance or a reduction of transportation rates. They may demand an advance to some points and a reduction to others. Whatever in my judgment seems to be proper in this respect I shall unhesitatingly recommend, having in view the interest of the railroad and the well being of the people of the south, whom the railroads are trying to serve. "It need not be expected that the reorganization of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association will bring the millennium to the railroads or to the people; but let us hope that it will at least result in producing such an adjustment of rates as will give to transportation companies a fair return upon the money invested in these properties, and, as far as possible, remove all well-founded complaints of unjust discrimination against localities and individuals."

A NEW COURTHOUSE

One of the Things the Grand Jury Wants, SO THE PRESENTMENTS DECLARE.

The Body Reviews Its Work and Condemns the County Jail—It Gives a List of What It Wanted.

The members of the grand jury which adjourned yesterday have far-seeing eyes. They want to build a courthouse and jail new that will meet the demands of this county a century from this time.

They said so in their general presentments, made yesterday.

Their minds seem bent on the accomplishment of this purpose, and a few months from now the people of Fulton may gaze proudly upon a magnificent temple of justice, and a rock-bound cage for evil-doers.

The people want a new courthouse and jail, and the enterprising grand jury have begun the work.

Here's what the grand jury says about a new courthouse:

"The courthouse is not suitable for the several courts and business offices of the county, and we recommend that the county commissioners, together with the citizens' committee of four, appointed by the board of our jury January 8, 1892, take immediate steps to provide courthouse accommodations, by selling the present property and purchasing new grounds and building a new courthouse, that will be equal to the increasing demands of our county for the next century, or by such other means as may be deemed best."

That's talking in the point, and it sounds like a new courthouse.

Here's what the grand jury says about a new jail:

"We condemn the present jail as being insufficient, too small and insecure, and in point of comfort and convenience, a reflection on the fair name of our county."

A recommendation for the building of a new jail and for the sale of the old one follows.

Pay of Jurors.

The grand jury made a change that will meet with popular favor. That change is that jurors be paid $2 per diem hereafter instead of $1 as heretofore.

County Convicts.

In its report of the condition of the Fulton county convicts the grand jury says that the north Atlanta camps are in "good order except the kitchen and laundry." This camp was located on West Peachtree, where city improvements are being made, and the jury considers it a nuisance.

"The buildings," to quote from the presentments, "are old and worthless, and the land is very valuable. We recommend that the land be sold and the camp built in any other locality—after the style of the Fulton county barracks. The barracks are in good order, with about two hundred convicts therein, and is moderately clean. Several are sick in the hospital. The hospital should be made more comfortable."

Here's Another.

Here's a four-line paragraph from the general presentments that will be read with interest. It was sandwiched between two ordinary recommendations, as if it was a common matter:

"We recommend that in future the grand jury of this county have authority to elect the county commissioners for this county, successively as their terms of office expire."

Those Overhead Bridges.

Those overhead bridges, which have caused so many deaths, are likely to become things of the past.

The grand jury yesterday stated in its presentments, that the Bell street bridge over the Georgia road and the McDaniel and Whitehall street bridges were extremely dangerous to human life. Already a number of lives had been lost by these bridges. Only about fifteen feet of space is between the stringers of the bridge and the rails of the tracks. A 5,000 pounds capacity car measures twelve feet from running board to top of the track, leaving only two feet seven inches from top of car to the bridge.

"We recommend," says the jury in conclusion, "that those bridges be condemned, and that the roads be required to raise the bridges at least three feet, or to lower the tracks three feet. We also recommend the passage of a law requiring all railroads to leave at least eighteen feet between rails and bridges."

Watchman at Bellwood Crossing.

It was recommended that the Western and Atlantic Georgia Pacific and the East Tennessee roads keep a watchman at Bellwood crossing. Much complaint has been made against this dangerous place, which brought about the recommendation.

It was recommended that the proprietors of Lynch's quarry be required to build a six-foot fence on the east and south sides of that quarry.

Dangerous Ponds.

The grand jury left no matter of county interest untouched, and the ponds, in which so many have been drowned, came in for their share of condemnation.

It was recommended that Ponce de Leon pond and other ponds be so arranged that they be at no point deeper than four feet. Where water was deeper it was to be defined by danger buoys.

Cars not to run so fast around curves hereafter.

Frank Joseph was reappointed chaplain of penitentiary camps No. 2 and 3.

County Property.

An estimate of the value of the county's property was made, which amounted to $277,500 in the aggregate. This was arrived at as follows:

Courthouse.....$150,000
Jail.....10,000
New barracks property, fifty acres.....30,000
Alms house property, 300 acres.....30,000
County property, thirty acres.....10,000
Humphries street property, four acres.....10,000
Mules, wagons, cars, hogs, camp equipment.....12,500
Total.....$277,500

The present system of working roads was condemned in strong terms. "It belongs to the dark ages," said the report. "The men meet at a given point with picks and shovels, and throw a few shovelfuls of mud, and spend the balance of the time gossiping." The grand jury wants a road law.

The Justices' Dockets.

The dockets of all the justices of the peace in the county, except the justice of the peace at McGehee, of Bryant's district; A. H. G. Howell, Adams; W. C. Howell, Adams; W. W. Fisher, Cook's; D. J. O'Callaghan, Edgewood.

In Contempt Cases.

The jury also recommended that the costs in contempt cases be recovered from the estates of defendants wherever possible. It was recommended that the grand jury institute proceedings to recover such costs.

This will affect the Ryan case.

The thanks of the grand jury were returned to Judge Clark and Solicitor Charles Hill.

The presentments were read by Mr. W. M. Middlebrooks.

AT THE THEATERS.

Another appreciative audience greeted last evening the performance of Francois Coppee's romantic play of "The Violin Maker." The play and paths are woven together in this little play with a dexterous pen and effective situations, sure to win the sympathy of the audience when conducted by an actor and company as excellent as are nightly performing at the Edgewood Avenue theater.

It is always a dangerous thing for a comedian to meddle with tragedy. The greater, then, is the credit due to Mr. Clarke for his successful impersonation of Coppee's crippled and pathetic hero. It is one of his very best creations, full of intensity and dramatic force. Mr. Clarke has a good voice and some of the tones are exceptionally sweet and tender, a rare gift in a comedian.

Miss Victory Bateman as Gleania the Beautiful, scored a decided success. She has a truthful conception of the part and her play added vastly to the effect of the role.

Mr. Hale was seen to great advantage. He never looked better, and acted with spirit through out. Mr. Chancery was amusing as Old Ferrari, a capital bit of character acting. The piece was well staged and was eminently successful.

"Paul Pry" with Mr. Clarke in the title role played the world's most wonderful personification of this young actor. In the first place the audience cried from sympathy, and in the last they cried from laughter. Miss Howard gave good support. Mr. Baker was excellent as Colonel Hardy, and Mr. Calvert was sprightly and refreshing as Harry Stanley.

Mr. Jefferson and His Company.

On Thursday evening Mr. Joseph Jefferson and his famous company will produce "The Rivals" in Atlanta. This is an event to which the lovers of comedy look forward with interest and with real. Here we see great actors, and we see them in something which we are able to understand and to enjoy. Of Jefferson himself the theatergoers of the country need to do nothing. They know him and love him. The same may truly be said of Mrs. Drew. Miss Jefferson is the supporting company, with Louis James, Jack Barnes, George Denham, Viola Allen and a number of other very excellent people.

Sam'l of Posen.

For the first time in several years "Sam'l of Posen" is to be presented to our theatergoers. It will be seen at DeWitt's opera house on January 28th and 30th, and, without doubt, draw one of the largest houses of the season. Mr. W. H. Curtis, the well-known comedian, will appear in the title role, supported by an excellent dramatic company, recently organized in the east.

THE STATE CHEMIST

Is Busily Engaged Testing Fertilizers by the New Law.

HE HAS TO DIG INTO EVERY SACK.

The Railroad Commission Has a Busy Day. Other Items Found at the Statehouse of Georgia.

According to the law passed by the last legislature Dr. George F. Payne, state chemist, is now busily engaged in analyzing the sacks of guano sent out from the factories through Georgia.

It is an enormous task that the legislature has put upon the state chemist, but Dr. Payne is equal to it.

He has put the inspectors and his assistants at work getting samples of the fertilizers made in Georgia by home manufacturers, and has also been testing every sack of guano sent in from other manufacturers out of the state.

Dr. Payne takes a sample from every sack of the same brand sent out by a factory and mixes these to get the analysis. He does not take it from the bulk in the factory before it is sent out, as was formerly done, but gets his samples after it has been sent out for shipment.

This is in accordance with a requirement of the late law, whose purpose is to prevent the factory men from running out a cheaper grade of fertilizers after they have been analyzed in the factory. The law now requires the state chemist to send out the inspectors and sample the guano after it is sacked and shipped. It is done to protect the farmers against worthless fertilizers.

"Suppose you find a sack of guano sold to a farmer, and after analyzing it, discover that it is what was claimed for it?"

"In such a case the farmer cannot be made to pay for it. That is exactly what we are here for—to protect the farmers from such imposters."

"Do you think there will be much fertilizing this year on the farms of Georgia as usual?"

"Well, I reckon so. Georgia uses more guano than any other southern state. Last year she used about three hundred and fifty thousand tons. This means that there was as many as 1,000 long trainloads of fertilizers sent out to the farmers of Georgia, each train sized up at thirty cars."

Why is it that Georgia uses more fertilizers than any other southern state?"

"Because she gets them cheaper. Georgia pays less for fertilizers than any state in the union. The reason is because there is no heavy revenue obtained from the inspection of the products of the small factories, nor the larger ones, as far as that is concerned. The fee is only 10 cents per ton. The small manufacturer, making only five tons, pays 50 cents inspection fees. In some states the regulation of fees is different, the charge being $100 for each brand, which crowds the small manufacturer out of work, thus destroying that right competition that we have here in Georgia."

"There is no reason," continued Dr. Payne, "why Georgia should not some day in the near future become the greatest source of supply for the whole country in the line of fertilizers. We can make guano far cheaper here than any other state, and we have all the materials right in our own state for making the fertilizers."

Fifteen years ago there was no fertilizer made in Georgia at all. Now there are two factories here in the state which alone make more than were consumed in Georgia fifteen years ago."

Albany's Big Luck.

The railroad commissioners were busy all yesterday.

They finished hearing the arguments in behalf of the Southern Express Company regarding the cutting down of the rates of express freights.

Mr. W. E. Wooten, with the enterprising mayor of Albany, laid a proposition before the commission, asking for a union depot at Albany.

The city of Albany will give to the roads entering the whole country in the line of fertilizers. They unite to build a spacious union passenger depot. All the roads running into Albany agreed to accept the offer except the Central, and it is believed that this road will do likewise. If not, the commission will require the Central to build a depot of its own. This is a great boon for the Artesian City.

An express also put in a claim for a passenger depot, and Mr. Foster and Mr. W. K. Wheatley were here to urge the claim. The commission gave orders that the depot be built.

Fursyth, through Hon. Robert L. B. Turner, renewed her petition for a better passenger depot, and will get it.

The commission has made no change in its former decree concerning the reduction of telegraphic rates.

The case of the people of Athens against the Richmond and Danville was postponed until today. The people are suing the railroad for giving the same freight rates given Atlanta, as this was promised in the contract with the city of Athens when the Richmond and Danville brought the Northeastern road from Athens. It is a very interesting case.

A QUIET DAY'S WORK

Was That in the Courthouse Departments Yesterday.

Very little of general interest transpired at the courthouse yesterday.

Judge Marshall J. Clark heard motions for new trials all day. He issued an order announcing that decisions in the following certain cases, which had already been argued, would be announced in due season: Mr. W. H. vs. Register; Hoyt vs. Gregg; Southern Granite Company vs. Almond & George; P. J. Kenney vs. city of Atlanta, and Bridges vs. McMillan.

In the case of James Harris vs. the city of Atlanta, before Judge Westmoreland, a verdict was rendered yesterday in favor of the plaintiff for $200.

In the same court Messrs. Bain & Kirkpatrick recovered a judgment against J. W. Smith for $200.

M. B. Sullivan, receiver, vs. W. F. Cook, recovered judgment for $265.

In Judge Van Epps' court a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $300 was rendered in the case of the W. R. Ivey Cigar Company vs. Wily and Greene.

J. B. Lippincott was given a verdict for $752.22 against John R. Thornton.

A verdict to the amount of $8,005.36 was given W. B. Miles against the Atlanta Piano Company yesterday.

Benjamin Usary yesterday brought suit against the East Tennessee road to recover $5,000 damages sustained while in the employ of that road. Peter F. Smith is his attorney.

The grand jury, in its presentments, yesterday, scored the jury on the point of being small and insecure, but nothing can be said against its cleanliness. It is kept in a cleanly condition, and is freshly scoured up every Saturday.

Tiny, watch-scaled bottles, convenient for carrying in vest or fob pocket, contain Smith's Bile Beans, a sovereign specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Malaria and other ailments.

AN INTERESTING REPORT.

The Year's Work of the Second Baptist Church—A Fine Showing.

Dr. Henry McDonald, pastor of the Second Baptist church, was not in his pulpit last Sunday or the Sunday before. He was reported better, but he gripped the pulpit and preached the vocal organ that it was not safe for him to preach.

So the Second Baptist church had no sermon last Sunday, but it had a very interesting meeting, over which Judge Pileton presided. The occasion was the reception of annual reports of all branches of church work. At such times the sermon is always omitted.

because of the amount and interest of the subject matter of the reports. The church has a membership of 1,015, in which there was a gain of fifty-one over the previous year.

The report of the treasurer, Mr. G. B. Adair, showed that about thirty thousand dollars had been collected for the new church fund, and about ten thousand dollars had been raised for other purposes, making $40,000 altogether. The reports of the different church organizations showed that, besides the collections and disbursements for current expenses of the church, $5,588.81 had been collected for missions. Judge Pendleton, treasurer of the mission fund, reported collections amounting to $1,688.81, besides large amounts raised for missions by the societies, as follows: Sunday school, $2,828.84; Young Men's Missionary Society, $1,488.85; Woman's Missionary Society, $1,084.17; Young Ladies' society, $862.70; Boys' society, $350. The Young Men's society has in charge two flourishing missions, the Capitol avenue and Ira street missions—for which lots have been bought and churches built at a cost of $10,000, most of which has been paid. The Ira street mission now has a Sunday school with an attendance of 112, and one on Capitol avenue has 107. Ministers are engaged for each mission, and the expenses are divided between the congregation and the Young Men's society.

A SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Is What Atlanta Baseball Enthusiasts Are After.

An interesting baseball meeting was held at Lanier & Hoppie's office last night.

Those present, by their timely suggestions and convincing arguments, proved that they meant business from the start.

That the time is ripe for a Southern League is conceded by everybody, and Atlanta has brought the ball rolling in the right direction. It is sincerely hoped that the home club's action will meet with a hearty response from the other cities interested.

It was definitely settled that Mr. Al Marshall should visit the northern portion of the proposed circuit, comprising Nashville, Knoxville and Chattanooga, and explain the feasibility of a league.

A flattering proposition was made by representatives of a street railway company regarding grounds, and the public can count on the grounds as smooth and level as a floor, and within seven minutes' ride of the center of the city.

Mr. Marshall will probably leave Sunday next, going to Nashville, Chattanooga and Knoxville, in the order named.

Letters were received yesterday from Columbus and Chattanooga conveying the impression that they are both ready for a league.

A meeting will be called on Mr. Marshall's return to receive his report. In the meantime, character will be applied for and other matters of a local nature attended to.

HE HAD LAUDANUM.

And a Number Are Interested in Knowing Whether He Took It or Not.

A man giving his name as John Little, and his occupation as a machinist, walked into the saloon at the corner of Decatur and Butler streets last evening.

Drawing a bottle of laudanum from his pocket, he held it up and declared that he was tired of life and intended ending his troubles. The man walked out, and a few minutes later met Officer Moon. He handed the bottle to the patrolman two-thirds empty with the request that Moon keep it for him.

That was the last the man was seen. A careful search for him last night proved unavailing, and it is not known whether he took the drug or not, and if so, with what effect.

THROUGH THE PARLOR.

A Burglar Breaks Into a House on Luckie Street Last Night.

The home of Mrs. Mackey, at 67 Luckie street, was burglarized last night.

Some one entered the parlor window, scattered things about, and was evidently frightened away. He secured some apparel from the rack in the hall, but left lying around a number of costly articles of jewelry and other valuables.

A RAILWAY STRIKE,

In Which Thirty Men Lost Their Jobs Yesterday Morning.

THEY WANTED BETTER WAGES

And Other Men Came and Took Their Places—It Happened on the New Electric Line to the River.

Work on the Atlanta and Chattahoochee road was suspended yesterday morning through a strike of a foreman and some of his employees.

Their places were soon filled, and everything went along smoothly again.

Some time ago the laying of track for the electric line reached Proctor street bridge, a point about four miles from the city. The bridge itself was an old, unsafe one and a new structure had to be put up.

Pending this, the workmen proceeded to lay the track, beginning a few hundred feet beyond the bridge, leaving a strip of nearly a quarter of a mile. Yesterday morning the bridge was completed, and the portion of the road previously left unattended was taken up again.

A squad of thirty men were on hand at 7 o'clock with their picks and shovels ready to begin work.

But a surprise awaited Mr. P. B. Lawrence, the contractor. The men refused to begin work, and, through their spokesman, declared that they would quit forthwith unless an advance was made in their wages of 50 cents a day.

They were firm in their demand, and stood about quietly awaiting developments.

To Mr. Lawrence the strikers stated that they had been urged on to take this step by Maner, the foreman. That didn't help matters a bit, but it certainly hurt the foreman.

Mr. Lawrence replied that he "would see about it," but hardly thought that he could meet the demands. He came to the city, consulted with Mr. Jerome Simmons, and then informed the strikers that they would either have to go to work at the old prices or give way to others.

The men put up their tools, took their coats and quit. An hour afterwards another squad of men were on hand to take the place of the strikers. Before noon they were busy at work and there were not the slightest indications that a strike had just threatened the serenity of matters.

Some of the thirty idle men were present to see the fruitless results of it. The whole affair occupied less than four hours and the work was suspended just that length of time—a comparatively trifling delay.

Foreman Maner was discharged for the part he was accused of having played in the strike. He was accused of having played in the strike and Mr. Lawrence had double duties for the rest of the day.

The thirty men stood to one another as they had agreed to do, but quite a number were decidedly sorry of it afterwards.

A Big Regular Army.

The mightiest host of this sort is the army of invalids whose bowels, livers and stomachs have been regulated by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. A regular habit of body is brought about through using the Bitters, not by violently agitating and griping the intestines, but by reinforcing their energy and causing a flow of the bile into its proper channel. Males and females, young and old, who are afflicted with grippe, dyspepsia, and tendency to inactivity of the kidneys, are conquered by the Bitters.

THERE'S NOTHING IN IT.

Nothing Sensational in the Boys' High School.

The grievance committee of the Atlanta board of education was in session for four hours yesterday.

The meeting began at 3 o'clock in Superintendent Slaton's office, and came to an end just as the city clock tolled 8.

Chairman English presided and a full committee was in attendance.

The matter for consideration was the recent trouble at the Boys' High school between Professor W. A. Wilson and a number of the boys.

All those who participated in, or knew anything about the affair were examined and their evidence taken as in a court of inquiry. The meeting was held in closed doors, and when it adjourned the committeemen had little to say.

"There's no sensation in it," said Chairman English; "none at all. The boy is now in school and has been since the trouble began. We will make our report next Thursday before the meeting of the board."

OVER THE BRIDGE.

A Negro Is Headed Off on the Broad Street Bridge Yesterday, AND HE JUMPS OVER THE RAILING.

A Fall of Forty Feet Upon a Flat Car—The Negro Was an Escaped Convict and He Will Be Taken to the Camp.

Powell Howard, a negro convict, made a daring leap for liberty yesterday morning. He jumped from the Broad street bridge, a distance of forty feet, and his escape from death was almost miraculous.

Two months ago Howard was taken to Donaldson's camp for eighteen months on two separate convictions of larceny. He served about three weeks, and one day broke the shackles about his legs with a rock. He marched to camp with the fetters loosely bound, and that night tore them away and easily made his escape.

Howard remained at large until last Sunday, when he was caught in Birmingham.

Night before last Officer C. J. Sullivan left with him for Atlanta. Yesterday morning about 6:30 o'clock, as the train was nearing the Broad street bridge, the officer stepped into the aisle to put on his overcoat. He saw Howard save an opportunity to escape and immediately averted himself off. Leaping to his feet he rushed to the platform, jumped to the ground and then darted up the track.

As he reached the steps of the bridge the negro quickly ascended them. He was followed by Sullivan and others who joined in the lively chase. As Howard reached the top of the bridge, his pursuers close at his heels. He ran around to the other side of the bridge and started up toward Atlanta.

But a number of people had gotten in front of him and intercepted his progress. He saw it was hopeless to try to pass the crowd, and didn't intend to take the risk. Climbing over the railing he paused a moment, and then jumped to the ground below.

Those on the bridge expected to see the desperate negro killed. They looked and saw him fall upon a flat car. Howard quickly leaped to the ground and started to run, when he fell.

He lay until caught and was then carried to the station house in the patrol wagon. Dr. Griffin attended to his injuries, and found the negro had sustained a fracture of the lower bones of the leg. Otherwise Howard was unhurt, and he will be all right within a few weeks.

The negro's escape from fatal injury was certainly a narrow one.

Howard will be carried back to Donaldson's camp to serve the remainder of his sentence—about seventeen months—as soon as he gets well again. A more careful watch will be placed on him, as he is an unusually shrewd and desperate negro.

GOING, GOING, GONE.

The Great Sale of Crockery and Glassware at the Dresden.

Yesterday was a red-letter day for the Dresden, at the corner of Decatur and Pryor streets. The auctioneering of crockery, glassware and articles pertaining to this line has been very satisfactory to the hundreds of customers who have given their patronage.

Mr. McIlrath, the auctioneer, is one of the most accommodating that ever does business in Atlanta. He said:

"The sales have been beyond my expectation and very satisfactory. We have in the past few days disposed of about five thousand dollars' worth of the finest crockery and glassware. We fully expect to sell $10,000 worth in the next few days. As you well know, the Dresden has been running two stores, one at corner Decatur and Pryor streets and one in the High Building. It is their policy to centralize and unite both their stores at 37 Whitehall street. To do this, the Dresden was compelled to sell off a part of the furniture stock they had on hand. This moving into one store on Whitehall street has been a blessing to hundreds of people in this city, because they have secured bargains in crockery and glassware unheard of before in this country."

"Today the Dresden will sell $2,000 worth of hotel and restaurant china. The sale will begin promptly at 9 o'clock, and I would suggest that if the hotel and restaurant men want special bargains, let them be on hand."

"At 10 o'clock, some of the finest goods ever shown in Atlanta will be put on sale. Some of Haviland's royal blue dinner sets, that have heretofore been retailing at $350. Also a fine assortment of the finest cut glass, of which the Dresden has an immense lot."

Now, do not miss the sale today. The goods must be sold, and that right away."

THE LIVING FROG CHILD

With His Congress of Cabalistic Wonders
NOW ON EXHIBITION
76 Decatur Street all this Week.

He was born in Kershaw county, South Carolina, 1871, and is one and one-half feet high, and weighs 100 pounds.

This wonderful phenomenon has appeared in all the great cities, and certainly has pleased the ladies and children everywhere. He came before the public in 1888. He has been exhibited in 31 states and the Dominion of Canada. The medical fraternity pronounce him without an equal.

We will not hire to any nude museum or circus for any less than $100 a day.

This strange freak of nature is accompanied by his parents.

He is of such high moral character that his patronage is derived from the ladies and gentlemen of society. Even the clergymen uphold and patronize this wonderful and Japanese dog with three legs, coat with three legs, an African congo, a cat with six legs, two bodies and one head. "Gigantic work of the Deity."

Ladies and children better come soon in the daytime so they will not be crowded. Doors open from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m., each day.
